Two years after the premiere of the album "Zgliszcza", Warsaw's Czerń returns with brand new release. The mini-album simply titled "Czerń" consists of four powerful-sounding songs (produced by Marcin Bużniak in the Silent Scream studio), adding even more Death Metal influences to their blackened Sludge and a pinch of Black Venom.

The band itself describes the music as "just metal" and consistently share its unhappy thoughts on the human race in Polish language, as on previous releases. The premiere of the minialbum opens a new chapter for Czerń, as it was recorded with a five-piece line-up including guitarist Piotr Sałata who joined the band in 2021.

Mini album also includes a new version of the title track from the debut album - "Nie ze skały a ze strachu".

The new release will be promoted by set of shows in Autumn, the first ones will take place in early September.

Line up: Łukasz - vocals, Piotr - guitar, Janek - guitar, Bernard - b
